

livewell from your chair

We're bringing chair-based exercises to your home!

Introduction

Hi, I'm James Taylor, Health and Wellbeing Co-ordinator for Eastlight Community Homes. I lead a team of volunteer Chair-Based Exercise Leaders who teach free classes in Essex.

If you would like to improve your mobility and overall health, please take a look at my simple chair-based exercises.

If you're online, you can watch a video of me demonstrating these exercises by visiting 'Eastlight Community Homes' on YouTube.

Medical check:

We are not medically trained. If you have concerns about a health condition conflicting with these exercises, we strongly advise you to speak to your health professional first before starting.

Equipment required:

1 x chair & 2 x tins

Listen to your body and rest in-between activities when you need too.

Circulation booster 1

3 x circuits; leg & arm movements done 'separately' - up to 30 seconds for each movement per circuit

Leg marching (figure 1) & arm swings (figure 2)

Mobilising joints

4 x shoulder lifts (figure 3)

4 x shoulder rolls (figure 4)

4 x trunk twists (each side) (figure 5)

Circulation booster 2

3 x circuits; leg & arm movements done 'together' (opposite leg to opposite arm) - up to 30 seconds per circuit

Static stretches

(Hold for 8-10 seconds)

Chest stretch (figure 8)

Back of thighs stretch (figure 9)

Strength (5-8 reps)

Arm curl (figure 10) & Upper Back Stengthener (figure 11)

Sit to stand (figure 12)

Endurance (up to 30 seconds per circuit)

2 x curcuits of Canoeing (figure 13)

Cooldown (slowing the movements down)

Repeat circulation booster 1 (figures 1 and 2) & stretches (figures 8 and 9)

Relaxation (1min) OPTIONAL

Focus on an aspect of breathing with eyes open or shut, such as; gentle rise of the chest or the stomach expanding.

Revitaliser (up to 30 seconds)

Lightly tapping the body should give a feeling of alertness following the relaxation, preparing your body for movement.

*The benefits of CBE are enormous:
one lady couldn't get in and out of a car
when she started, another couldn't open jars & bottles, another couldn't get out of a chair unaided - now they can do it all!*
